Choosing a Skilled Nursing Care Facility

Skilled nursing care provides an extension of the care you received in the hospital, until you're ready to return home safely. At Lexington, we understand choosing a skilled nursing care facility may be difficult. Here are some things to consider when choosing the facility best suited for you or your loved one's needs.

	Lexington	Facility #2 Name:	Facility #3 Name:
Does the facility offer a full continuum of therapy services and are they available seven (7) days a week?
Does the facility have state-of-the-art therapy equipment, like the AlterG Anti-Gravity Treadmill or a OmniVR System?
Does the facility provide skilled nursing in-patient services on a defined medical unit?
Does the facility have specially trained nurses to manage people who are still recovering?
Does the facility have a collaborative care team that includes a Nurse Practitioner, Speciality Nurses, and on-site physicians?
Does the facility provide for physician clinical care 24 hours a day, 7 days a week?
Does the facility offer innovation tool ssuch as telemedicine, providing immediate after hours care should an acute need arise?
Does the facility offer a comprehensive network of skilled nursing (after-hospital) care and services like post-acute, long-term care, memory care, independent & assisted living, home health care, hospice care and private care services?
Is there a supportive process after discharge from the facility to home care services working with the patient and family to help keep our patients well?
Is the facility clean and pleasant?
Does the facility provide the level of privacy you are seeking? (Private or semi-private rooms)
Is the facility certified by Medicare and Medicaid?
Do you get the feeling that the staff you have seen or met is welcoming?
Does it appear to you that the staff is knowledgeable and well-trained?
Does the facility have an adequate therapy gym suited for your individual therapy needs?
Does the facility offer diagnosis or disease-specific programming? Such as Pulmonary, Cardiac and Orthopedic Rehabilitation or Palliative Care?
Is the facility affiliated with a hospital(s) where my or my loved one's physician practices?
